

ITEM 1. INTRODUCTION

Wall Street Financial Group, Inc. is an SEC Registered Investment Adviser. Brokerage and investment management services and fees differ, it is important for the retail investor to understand the differences. Free and simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at Investor.gov/CRS, which provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

ITEM 2. RELATIONSHIPS AND SERVICES

A. What investment services and advice can you provide me?

B. Description of Services

We are an investment adviser and provide investment advisory services rather than brokerage services. We provide active asset management, financial planning and pension services.

- Monitoring: As part of the fee you will pay, all accounts are reviewed no less often than quarterly or at the request of the client. Carl Zeidler, John Zeidler or Brenden Brown are responsible for the review of client accounts.
- Authority: We manage client accounts on a discretionary basis. With discretion you grant us the authority to determine the securities and amount to be bought or sold without your consent prior to each trade.
- Additional Information: Please refer to our Form ADV, Part 2A brochure (Items 4 and 7 of Part 2A) for a more detailed description of our investment advisory services.

Conversation Starters: “Given my financial situation, should I choose an investment advisory service? Why or why not?”; “How will you choose investments to recommend to me?”; “What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?”

ITEM 3. FEES, COSTS, CONFLICTS, AND STANDARD OF CONDUCT

A. What fees will I pay?

If you sign an investment management agreement (managed account), you will pay us an annual asset-based fee, based upon an agreed annual percentage rate, generally referred to as an asset management fee. Ongoing asset-based fees will be billed monthly in arrears and will be based on the value of the cash and investments in your advisory account. Asset Management fees will be debited directly from your custodial account upon notification to the custodian. For Financial Planning we charge the client a fee of $500. Our fees do not vary based on the type of investment. Our fees reduce your investable assets and will be deducted from your account. The more assets you have in the advisory account, including cash, the more you will pay. This is a conflict of interest as it creates an incentive to increase the assets in your account in order to increase our fees. Fees and costs affect the value of your account over time. Please ask your financial professional to give you personalized information on the fees and costs that you will pay.

- As an investment advisory client, you will pay a monthly management fee. The custodian may charge commissions for trades, but we do not receive any fees charged by the custodian. You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce the amount of money you make over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.
- Some investments such as mutual funds impose additional fees that will reduce the value of your investment over time.
- The amount you pay will depend, for example, on how much you buy or sell, what type of investment you buy or sell, and what kind of account you have with us.
- We pass additional charges, from our Clearing Firm, on to you such as transaction fees, custodial fees, account maintenance fees, and account inactivity fees.

Conversation Starter: Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will you invest for me?

What are your legal obligations to me when providing recommendations? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means. (ii) Examples of Ways You Make Money and Conflicts of Interest: (a) Proprietary Products: We do not offer advice only with respect to proprietary or a limited menu of products; (b) Third-Party Payments: We do not utilize the services of third parties in the management of client accounts; (c) Revenue Sharing: We do not have any revenue sharing agreement; (d) Principal Trading: Investments we buy from a retail investor, and/or investments we sell to a retail investor, for or from our own accounts, respectively. We do not execute principal transactions;

Conversation Starter:

How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them?

How do your financial professionals make money?

Investment advisor representatives receive a monthly fee based upon your account’s market value. The fee will increase as your account value increases and decreases if your account value decreases. Managed accounts are not charged any commissions, so the investment advisor representative only receives the monthly fee.

It is important to understand the differences between a brokerage commission-based account and an asset-based fee account.

an asset-based fee if you want continuing advice or want someone to make investment decisions for you, even though it may cost more than a transaction-based fee.	a transaction-based fee from a cost perspective, if you do not trade often or if you plan to buy and hold investments for longer periods of time.
